RE: Case No. 16-11767-CMA

To whom it may concern:

This is to protest the proposed fees as being extremely excessive.

I thought that the purpose of the trustees, their accountants, and the attorneys was to look out for the interest of the creditors and to see that justice was done. How can these excessive fees accomplish this, and how do they relate to what the creditors will receive?

It appears that their primary interest as been to line their own pockets. I would think that much of the services could have been performed by less expensive individuals and that they could have more focus and concern for the creditors' interests.

Sincerely,

E. James Lunt, CPA
